

1st Call for Papers
Sociolinguistics Summer School 7
June 21st-24th, 2016
Université Lumière Lyon 2
Lyon, France

The Sociolinguistics Summer School is the perfect opportunity for postgraduate students to network, showcase some of their original work, as well as attend workshops and lectures by leading experts in the field. Each day of the summer school will follow a specific theme or topic of current relevance to sociolinguistic research, this theme will reflect the specialty of the plenary speakers. We welcome students from any institution who wish to present in English on these topics, and meet the corresponding invited speakers:

- Endangered Languages: Bénédicte Pivot, Université Paul Valéry Montpellier 3
- Linguistic Landscapes: Jeffrey Kallen, Trinity College Dublin
- Linguistic Policies: Jim Walker, Université Lumière Lyon 2
- New Speakers: Bernadette O'Rourke, Heriot-Watt University, Edinburgh

However, we also encourage students to present on other topics related to sociolinguistics. The Summer School will include a poster session, and oral presentations which will be 20 minutes followed by 10 minutes of discussion.
